WE NOMINATE

George Finger Thomas, one of the Princeton Community's great teachers, who on July 1st — after 28 years of teaching and trail-blazing here in the University — will be joining the ranks of Professors Emeriti. This past week, in recognition of this 68-year old Texan's major contributions to the study and teaching of religion in colleges and universities across the country, more than 100 scholar-teachers gathered in Princeton to participate in a three-day conference which highlighted all Thomas has accomplished in gaining for religious study, along with the other humanities, an independent place in the liberal arts curriculum.

Called to Princeton in 1940 to inaugurate a long-contemplated program of instruction in religious thought, Thomas (69 on July 31st) was the mainspring in the almost incredible development of a full-fledged department offering both undergraduate and graduate programs of study, and often, on the basis of "evidence" set forth by authorities participating in last week's conference, serving as a model for other American institutions. What was launched in 1946 as a one-man department offering just two courses is staffed in 1968 by 15 faculty members teaching some 50 courses to more than 1,100 Princeton students, including 55 upperclassmen "majoring" in religion.

Thomas' standing in his field was etched well over a decade ago by the evaluation made of one of his major publications, "Christian Ethics and Moral Philosophy," by the eminent theologian Reinhold Niebuhr. In this work, Niebuhr stressed, Thomas "has given us the most comprehensive survey of Christian ethical thought which has appeared in America . . . It is so fair and comprehensive in its treatment of various thinkers in both the Christian and secular traditions that it will no doubt become a valuable and much sought after textbook in many universities and seminaries." It is small wonder that rarely a semester has passed in the post-World War II era without having representatives of some college visiting Princeton to consult Thomas on founding or strengthening a department of religion.

A Rhodes Scholar at Oxford in the early 1920's, following his graduation from Southern Methodist University, Thomas earned his doctoral degree at Harvard and subsequently served with distinction as professor of philosophy at Dartmouth and the University of North Carolina. Long active in Princeton's Trinity Episcopal Church and for 43 years a Fellow of the Society for Religion in Higher Education, he is a past president of the American Theological Society. In 1954 he was a member of the "Commission of 25" of the World Council of Churches charged with laying the theological groundwork for its Second World Assembly, "Christ the Hope of the World."

In 1953, speaking in Louisville, Ky., on the subject of "Religion in Liberal Education," Thomas became the first Princeton faculty member to serve as a Jennie Wetherbee Baker Lecturer, an unusual lecture program, that enables Princeton professors to deliver public lectures in various sections of the nation under the auspices of Princeton alumni organizations. A decade later Thomas, who plans to divide his first year of "retirement" between an interdenominational seminary in India and a Christian university in Japan, was one of the first six faculty members named McCosh Fellows.

For successfully challenging what he once termed "the rapid growth of religious illiteracy in educated circles;" for his on-going distinguished service as one of America's forceful interpreters of religious thought; for his capacities for helping others to think clearly about moral issues; he is TOWN TOPICS' nominee as

PEACE

At Princeton High School students themselves, after Dr. King's death, have met and agreed Friday that Princeton High School is "off limits" for skirmishes.

A lot of new, explained Principal Kenneth E. Michael, "each group — Negro and white — has agreed we won't go looking for you if you don't come looking for us."

Mr. Michael and Superintendent Philip E. McPherson, outlined for the press on Tuesday a series of assemblies and meetings held to ease them in the days that have followed the assassination of Dr. Martin Luther King, Jr.

The principal emphasized two things: the evidence that the last week's first school lobby was related to racial tensions; school officials including Mr. Michael, aren't banning students who live outside Princeton for recent difficulties.

"If kids live far apart and never see each other after school, we're all the more the way Princeton kids have, it's a difficult situation," the principal explained.

TOWN TOPICS MAILBOX OVERFLOWS

The largest and very possibly the most varied and provocative collection of letters ever written to TOWN TOPICS Mailbox appears in this issue. It is a widen set of letters of general community interest — ranging from plans to widen Route 206 and a first-hand report in the latest serious accident of the Kingston bridge to current racial unrest and tension of Princeton High School. TOWN TOPICS is most appreciative of the time taken by the various individuals who wrote and regrets that it could not publish all of the letters received.

He gave highest praise to Wilbur Williamson, new assistant director of the Princeton Youth Center, and William Knight of St. Andrews Church, for their work in arranging the present truce.

Mr. Michael said there were "small tensions" on April 18, the date after Dr. King was killed. On April 19, a student fire was started in a basement uniform closet but it was ignited by students involved in the racial difficulties, he stated.

On April 16, when students came back from Easter vacation, there were two fights, and the next day, Mr. Michael met with 18 or 20 boys who were involved.

On April 18, 24 white boys asked the principal for a meeting, and when the meeting was agreed that the meeting would be held with Negro boys. This was held on April 25.

The next day, Negro and white boys met together for 30 minutes with Mr. Michael, Mr. Williamson and Mr. Knight. Mr. Michael asked for "five peace-makers and five trouble-makers" from each group, but actually he got more than 20 students, he said.

He was at this meeting, last Friday, that peace was declared.

The preceding Friday — April 19 — an Association of Black Collegians from Princeton University, and the new ICAA held five assemblies at the high school — attendance 100%. They also held assemblies at Princeton Day School and Stuart Country Day.

meetings with members of the junior class.

"The kids themselves pick 10 or 15, a different group each week, and we talk over plans for next year," the principal said.

He added that last Friday's rally in Palmer Square was more concerned with Vietnam and the war than with race. Students had asked him permission to hold their rally between 1 and 3 p.m. in the school playing field, but Mr. Michael had refused. The rally was then held, from the school to Palmer Square, after school.

'COME SEE FOR YOURSELF'

PHS Principal Says: "Don't listen to every rumor, but come and see us," Princeton High School Principal Kenneth E. Michael invited residents of Princeton to see the Princeton Board of Education.

"You don't need a visitor's pass — just come and roam around and see for yourself."

He reported that tension at the school have calmed, "although no one of us can guarantee what will happen in the next several months."

The school administrators have been meeting frequently with students on an individual basis, he said, "not only with the leaders, but those who are leaders within their groups." He was doing this individually, he is talk with the students in their own groups. Hopefully what will happen is that we can bring the groups together and try to make some sense out of this."

Superintendent Philip J. McPherson summarized the many-faceted program of combatting tensions in the school. He believes an understanding and identity plan (U & D), expansion of vocational education, flexibility, special services, "programmatic" — he thinks it's particularly restless and tense — what we can do to improve their educational life in the school".

what Dr. McPherson reported as "a good sock at the whole issue but just a start." This Wednesday afternoon in a special session on the radio, the students and aldermen toward it.

The Rev. Dr. Shelly Brooks, director of the Rockefeller Theological Programs, 163 Nassau Street, and a Negro, addressed the group at 12:30. His talk was followed by lengthy group discussions led by trained leaders.

A resident told the board on Tuesday, "I would like to compliment Mr. Michael and his staff. My only complaint is that I don't know anything was going on."

NEW INFORMATION
On His Fire Banquet, Chief Peter J. McCrohan reported Tuesday that his department has no new information on the fire banquet last week of the Princeton High School main office and lobby with three Molotov cocktails.

"We're hoping for a break," he said. Considering that the molotovs were rampant, he added, "It'll leak out who did it but for us to prove it is another story. For that reason, we have to let it have suspects." He added that Ptl. Charles Harris has questioned a number of students.

Three gas-filled bottles were buried at the school early in the morning. According to Chief McCrohan, two landed in the lobby near the administration office, but one ignited.

A third landed outside the school and was extinguished when police arrived about 7:30 a.m. The morning. Police put out the fire with extinguishers from patrol cars, although one patrol car apparatus was damaged. The apparatus was at the high school as to the extent of damage.

The fire in the lobby was confined by heavy doors and by a lack of air. The cause of damage was the result of heat and smoke. The walls of the administration office were scorch marks. The telephone switch board and the electric office machine covers were melted by the heat. Fire damaged portions of rugs and draperies.

Police were alerted by a Moore Street resident who heard the school fire alarm sounding. Another resident reported seeing a car with three youths in its driving through the area with its lights off.

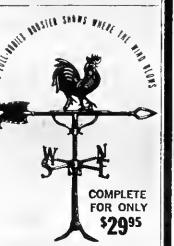

H.I.S. STUDENTS MARCH
PIT. CHARLES HARRIS, a school administrator, members of the high school chapter of Students for a Democratic Society, marched peacefully up Nassau Street Friday afternoon to Palmer Square.

The student march, estimated by police to number between 150 and 200, protested against the war in Vietnam, the draft and poverty. Police had a half-dozen men stationed along the route but reported absolutely no trouble.

"About the only thing that happened," said Chief Peter McCrohan, "was that they caused traffic to jam and motorists stopped to gawk at them." A minor accident took place at Nassau and Palmer Square West during the demonstration.

At Palmer Square, the students presented a few skits. One was a protest against the draft, with the students shouting, "Hell no, we won't go!" Police said the skits lasted about 45 minutes. "There wasn't much to it," said one patrolman.

SIX-STORY BUILDINGS?

Borough May Approve Them. Six-story office or apartment buildings may sprout in the heart of Princeton under new zoning regulations proposed by the Borough Planning Board just now in effect.

The "Proposed Zoning Regulations" will be open for public discussion next Tuesday at 8 p.m. in Borough Hall at the "Borough" May meeting. If the Planning Board adopts them, they will be drafted into a formal, legal zoning ordinance which would have to be passed by Borough Council.

Site-plan review is also part of the new zoning package. The Township adopted a site-plan review ordinance last year.

In the Borough the Planning Board itself — and not a special board, as in the Township — would review all new construction or enlargement.

ANOTHER REASON FOR REPLACING THE KINGSTON BRIDGE: The remains of this 1963 Ford are ready for the scrap heap after a collision with a Suburban Transit Bus on the Kingston Bridge. Two drivers and two passengers required medical attention after the crash, including driver of the car, James Kokoskie, who remains in critical condition at Princeton Hospital. Story in Topics on The Town.

except single-family or two-family homes.

This means that these six-story office or apartment buildings would have to pass Planning Board scrutiny. The review would consider physical layout, parking, pedestrian circulation, etc.

Scoping, the impact of the new building on the neighborhood, especially on residences. Aesthetics would also be reviewed. Six-story buildings would be confined to a new "R-2" (Residence-Office) in the "parking lot" area of the Borough. Buildings are the Higgins Building, the Princeton Herald Building, the eastern side of the public library parking lot and a jogging southern boundary line.

Site-plan review would not affect all of the present Playhouse parking lots; the southern boundary line leaves a strip along Hulfish next to the strip marked "Central Business District."

These buildings, under the new zoning regulation, would have to be two-thirds apartments — presumably the a partment planned by Princeton Community Housing Fund for middle-income families. Only one-third (two stories) could be offices.

This is the only business area where six-story structures would be allowed. In the Central Business area, building height would be limited to four stories.

Borough engineer Thomas Cowley explained that the ground floor makes a six-story building stand on Wiggins at the same height as a four-story building on Nassau.

New Zone Set. The new zoning proposals set up, for the first time in the Borough, an "Educational District". In fact, two "E" zones, a buffer zone and a feed zone enclosing the University, Westminster Choir College and the Seminary. Setback, height and use are more restricted here than in "R-1" and "R-2" neighborhoods.

The "E" zone is the campus heart where internal development is an institutional concern. In "E", a maximum height would be 60 feet, except that parts of buildings only 75 feet wide — like towers — can be 130 feet.

Off-street parking must be provided for all new homes in all residential zones. The number of spaces depends on the zone, but in the prime R-1 zone a one-family house must provide two off-street parking spaces.

Gas stations along "gasoline alley" on Nassau Street, a commercial and no residential construction will be permitted here. Atington (Harrison Street), lower Alexander where it joins the Township, and the Morano-Maple section of Nassau, would be restricted to neighborhood stores and businesses.

TOWARD PUBLIC HOUSING
And Health Inspections. A resolution opening the way for low-cost public housing in the Township was introduced by Committee Monday night, and an ordinance requiring Board of Health inspection of Township rentals units between tenants is now in the drafting stage.

Both were announced Monday night during the Township's "Open House." The gathering, prompted by a similar session in the Borough last week, was attended by about 50 people, most of whom were concerned about low-cost housing, including public policies attitudes as a Human Rights Commission for both Borough and Township.

"A Human Rights Commission is a good thing and I see no reason why we couldn't have one," stated Mayor Carl C. Schaefer. He said the Town will confer again with the Borough on the matter. State Senator Burton Feskin added, "we will see that a commission is formed."

Committee Chairman William Wilson explained that Monday's housing resolution will allow the Township to use the existing Housing Authority in the Borough as its instrument in the construction of low-cost housing in the Township.

Mrs. Harold Kuhn protested that Federal housing authorities require a "workable program" first, before a legal link is made with an existing authority.

(Mrs. Karen Slaby, executive director of Princeton's Housing Authority, explains that Federal authorities don't care which comes first; however, the governing body — and not the Housing Authority — must have a workable program, created by Federal officials before the Federal government will provide any money. Such a "workable program," Mrs. Slaby says, takes several months to prepare and includes information on the number of units required, zoning ordinances and possible variations needed, community attitude, and so on.)

"Why do Negroes need low-income housing?" demanded Clarence Di Donato, 27 Harris Road. "It's because they can't get a high job." Mr. King's death didn't shake us up again — it's still "business as usual." We must care what's in our hearts.

Mr. Di Donato charged that the Italian-American Club would not rent its facilities to Negro organizations, and he asked what could be done legally about private clubs that didn't take Negro members.

Free Swim? — Re-structuring of swimming pool fees, policy to eliminate discrimination, and other items of importance were discussed at length, by most of the same people who had talked about the problem to Borough officials last week.

Committee Chairman Jim Wallace told the audience that the Recreation Board was "acutely aware" of the problem and he said that last summer people who wanted to buy a ticket got free permits allowing use of the pool at any time.

Committeeman Harry J. Volwider said that Donald Hart, Recreation Director, had checked with the welfare department and made sure that all welfare recipients had pool tickets.

Many people who aren't on relief can't afford the pool, Mrs. Kuhn said, and Mrs. Gordon Mach told Committee Chairman Jim Wallace that "You must go beyond searching out welfare cases. How would a poor person not on relief know he could get a free ticket? And he wouldn't want to go begging to the Recreation Commission.

"What kind of pool would you have if it were free to anybody?" asked Mr. Volwider. He said he wanted the pool viewed by a "good cross section" of the community.

His remark set off a storm of comment and Miss Helen Fairbanks, 70 Valley Road, reported, "We don't want a cross-section" — we want everybody!"

Mr. Wallace observed that, with one exception, nobody in Monday's audience had ever appeared at a Recreation Board meeting to protest pool rates. "If pool costs come out of general taxation, that's OK with me," commented Mr.

Peskin. He asked Mayor Schaefer to convey the audience feelings to the Recreation Board.

When Seymour Alpert, warning that a police attitude would crucial in the coming summer months, Mr. Peskin (Township Police Commissioner) said that Chief James Clegg had met with him and discussed what would be done in case of civil disturbance.

Mayor Schaefer added that Charles Campbell had attended a special course in such matters at Trenton State College. Mr. Peskin and Mayor Schaefer did not specify what kind of specific instructions Township police had received.

WHY 200 UNITS?

Having figure in mind, At the start of a public hearing on the new Master Plan, the Township Planning Board announced Tuesday night that it was amending the Plan's figure of 200 low-income housing units to read "for the immediate future," thereby leaving the door open for more units later on.

The 200 unit figure was repeatedly rejected, nevertheless, both in letters to the board from various institutions and from the audience of about 100 that filled to standing room the Community Park auditorium.

The four-hour hearing was gavelled to a close at five o'clock in the morning. The board will meet in executive session next Tuesday to consider the comments made at the hearing, and will make a proposal to the Township Council meeting on Monday, May 13.

The proposal to widen Cherry Valley Road from 33 to 41 feet and incorporate it in an intermediate loop system, and the construction of part of the Loop Road in South Brunswick Township were also challenged.

Karl Light, who lives on Cherry Valley, presented a list of 104 residents, including all who live in the Township, plus those who live on the Montgomery and Hopewell sections of the road. He said that widening the road would damage scenic and property values. Replying to a question from Township attorney George C. Griffin, a Montgomery Plan Board representative said his community

South Brunswick's planning board chairman and a member of its planning board both accused the Princeton Township board of "the terms of steam-rollering the Master Plan without consultation."

"You should have discussed this with us," the South Brunswick planning commission said. "The planning park and school east of Lake Carnegie and your Loop Road would knock this out of the box!"

Hans C. Sander, Planning Board chairman, said that the South Brunswick was included in a long list of municipal and county planning boards invited to a special presentation provided by the Master Plan.
"Where were you?" Mr. Sander asked.

South Brunswick planning board chairman said he had sent a letter of regret because his own planning board was meeting that night.

The Loop Road was also resident, John Bowen of Terhune, who said that when the "integrated world" to the proposed Princeton post office on North Harrison, and to the office research zone which the board admittedly hopes will get bigger with more offices and research labs.

Housing. Concerning the 200 units of low-middle-income housing, Mrs. Lawrence Norris Kerr, real estate agent, commented, "It's a good situation we don't want it to be dead end.
Don't, please, make it a fixed number."

Mr. Kerr also urged the board to allow anyone, anywhere in the Township, to convert his house to apartments.

"That 200 units is a quota system to keep us black people on the reservation," charged John Young, "and when you say middle-income housing and next year, you're saying no blacks."

Mrs. Harold Kuhn cited an estimate of 70-80 families currently in need of low-income housing, who are placed first in line. "This leaves only 120-130 units for middle-income housing which is absolutely inadequate," she said.

Members of the audience and letter-writers also expressed concern about the Plan's hope that sub-standard homes could be rehabilitated. Mr. Sander stated that the phasis was on rehabilitation, not removal, and that a developer who has signed on with middle-income housing shouldn't be responsible for rehabilitation of old units, too.

L. N. Di Donato, of Princeton Community Housing, Inc., asked that the Plan include by recommendation that middle-income units be built next to "areas of similar density." He suggested this might confine the units to the Birch-Leigh area.

Mr. Sander said yes, the board did want the units near areas of "similar density," but also need open space. He suggested that the board add the Office-Research zone (North Harrison and beyond).

Prize for a Master Plan proposal to average out the lot sizes in a given zone creating a mix of large and small lots, came from William Cherry. He suggested that having lots in the midst of large ones was a good way to achieve an integrated community.

In other comments, Gerald Brown, former chairman of the Planning Board, proposed the location of a western segment of the Loop Road in a low, frequently flooded area near Charles Freericks objected to widening Route 206. (See

On Kingston Bridge, James Kokoski, a 1957 graduate of Princeton University and a guard on the 1956 varsity football team, remained in serious condition Tuesday afternoon last Thursday morning when the car he was driving collided with a bus on the Kingston Bridge.

The passengers with Mr.
Kokoski, Robert J. Jake, 21, a University junior from La

a senior from Harrisburg, Pa., were taken to local hospitals and continued at the University's

What Can You Spare for Fire Victims?

An urgent appeal for furniture and household items has been received by the Princetonians who staged the spontaneous, one-day drive for food and clothing on Sunday, April 21, for the Newark fire victims.

"Instant housing" (pre-fabricated) is going up for the estimated 500 families whose cook tables, electric baking machines, refrigerators, rugs, dishes, kitchen utensils and other household items.

The ad hoc committee urges Princetonians to share whatever they can spare. Small items should be boxed.

Major Henry Patterson and Borough Engineer Thomas Cawley have designated Miss Fine's School Gym (located in the basement of the school) as the collection center. The gym will be open Saturday, 9 a.m. to 5 p.m., and this Sunday from noon until 5.

Volunteers are needed to help pack, load and unload and to do light work during the weekend. The donations will be delivered to the United Community Corporation, the same organization that received the food and clothing contributions of April 21.

Inquiries are directed to 921-6841.

FIVE ARE HURT

In Mount Lucas Collision, An 18 year old Pine Street housewife was still at Princeton Hospital's intensive care unit this morning. She was admitted in critical condition, early Saturday evening, following a head on collision between two cars on Mount Lucas Road. Mrs. Debbie Gobin, 20, Pineda, was reported by a hospital spokesman to be improving Tuesday. She received multiple head injuries.

Also injured was her husband, Martin H. Grubh, 23, one of the drivers. He received facial cuts and was admitted to the hospital with a dislocated shoulder.

Two passengers in the rear seat of the Grubh car who were injured were Jo Ann Saenger, 17, of River Road, and Michael, admiring with his companion, and Stephen E. Kirton, 21, of New York City. Kirton, knocked unconscious, suffered face cuts.

The other driver, Herbert F. Perkins, 23, 516 Mount Lucas Road, sustained abrasions to his knee and arms. The front end of both cars were totally damaged.

Mr. Perkins said he was attempting to pass a car near Mount Lucas Road when he saw the Grubh car come down the hill. They collided head on. Mr. Perkins told P.I. John Hammon that he then jumped out and tried without success to stop the driver of the car he was passing. The accident is still under investigation.

NEW PILOT PROGRAM SET
THIS Fire Damage at $10,000.
Three experimental programs will be tried. The first, special services, bills before the legislature affecting the school system and termination of its contract with West Windsor.

Last night, morning's fire damages were estimated at $10,000 and $15,000 according to William K. Evans, business manager for the school system. Most of the damage was to the banding proper. The cause, Superintendent Philip MacPherson, was a Molotov cocktail. "But we don't know who threw it. We don't know if the fire was related to racial causes."

Witherspoon Projects. Dr. L. Wesley Johnson, principal of the Witherspoon School, announced a technical education projects for the fall, two of which will involve combining children of different grade levels.

The plans are current with national trends, he said, noting that the school's facilities will be used for the deployment of staff and other personnel in ways and other than the traditional self-contained classroom . . .

Carnival!

It may not be Ringling Brothers — Barnum and Bailey Circus, but there's plenty of fun to be had Saturday at a neighborhood carnival in the backyard of 327 Jefferson Road. There will be a doll shoot (not recommended for little girls), balloon burst, penny toss, treasure hunt, and many other games, and as a special feature, a scary spook house. Prizes will be awarded to winners, and refreshments, possibly in the form of punch and cookies, will be available.

Proceeds from the carnival will be put into the treasury of the Princeton Ivy Club, whose members, a group of 9-11 year-old boys in the Jefferson Road area, are working hard to make the carnival a success. They plan to use them "to have fun."

Mrs. Terry Vohsberg and Miss Mary Jane Schopf will teach 55 fifth graders in one enlarged classroom. They worked together this winter in a social studies unit on Willemstad.

In grades 1 and 2, there will be a programmed reading project involving a team teaching approach. Pupils from three first grade classrooms and three second grade classrooms will be grouped according to ability. This will be done independently. Six teachers are involved, who will also work out a mathematics curriculum for the year. A variety of skills of development of the language arts. The goal is eventual non-grading of the first three grades.

Mrs. Doris Smithy, Miss Andrea Martin and Theodore Hammond will team-teach about 65 or 70 children in three classrooms that include 3rd, 4th and 5th graders.

Dr. Johnson noted the flexibility of team-teaching, the interchange of knowledge and skills. "Another advantage lies in favor of the pupil who may otherwise be placed in for a year with a teacher with whom he has conflicts."

Multi-age grouping permits students to move at different rates of speed, he said. A child may be in a "grade 3" for mathematics, "grade 4" for reading, and study prehistoric man on a "grade 3" level. The program is to be called "The John Witherspoon plan" is available at the Stony Brook Administration building.

New Director. Dr. Charles G. Huchet will begin as the school system's new director of special services on July 1, according to Dr. W. Bradford, who drew applications from some 50 applicants across the country. He replaces Dr. W. Donald Clapp. He will have charge of 40 staff members working in diagnostic and remedial areas such as special education, social work and psychology.

Dr. Huchet, 34, has been serving as director of pupil personnel services in the North Hills School System, near Pittsburgh. A graduate of Wesleyan University in 1959, he holds an MA and Ed. D. from the Harvard Graduate School of Education.

He was a school psychologist for the Darien, Conn., public schools prior to moving to Pittsburgh. He is married and has a 3-year-old daughter.

West Windsor. In response to a letter from W. Bradford, president of the West Windsor Township School Board, the Princeton board stated it still does not wish to renew its contract to re-open West Windsor High School after 1970. The reason was again cited as "a crowded high school."

Board member George S. Pike remarked that West Windsor could not possibly build a secondary school by 1970. Noting that it is not interested in the reorganization program with Windsor, the board repeated its offer to give planning assistance.

Witherspoon. The board continued the question of the HONORED FOR 25 YEARS' SERVICE TO ETS: Among those honored at a dinner Saturday for a quarter-century of service with Educational Testing Service are Harold Glikkisen, research advisor in psychological studies; Miss Elizabeth G. MacLaren, an executive secretary; and Norman E. Ford, director of psychological studies. With them (at right) is ETS president Henry Chauncey. (Story, this page) townspeople, representatives Ford's conversion plans and petitioned the board to grant its approval. One witness, Chief Peter J. McGrath, appeared under absentee summons.

The rooming house had become "probably one of the worst locations I've ever seen in Princeton" a long time in the five years prior to Mr. Ford's purchasing it.

Miss Elizabeth G. MacLaren, an executive secretary; Norman E. Ford, director of psychological studies; and Harold Glikkisen, research advisor in psychological studies, were presented with gifts of $100 each. Mrs. Ford and College Entrance Examination Board.

Eleven-year anniversaries were celebrated by William E. Coughlin, Mr. and Mrs. John J. Miss Elizabeth G. Kimball, Mrs. Howard Lane, Orrville B. Palmer and Robert J. Solo. Members of Princeton Mrs. Eugene McGrath of Princeton Junction, Francis X. Nulty of Belle Mead, Mrs. H. Ivan Stricker of Plainsboro and Mrs. Ruth A. Cornell of Highstown.

Special hostesses at the dinner included Mrs. Marjorie Baker and Mrs. William V. Taylor, who have been previously honored for 25 year's service.

VARIETY RECOMMENDED
FOR 30-32 MERCER. The Borough Zoning Board last week voted to recommend to Mayor and Council that Jeremiah Ford, who has been asked to do what he has sought to from the beginning with the rooming house he owns at 30-32 Mercer.

The Board agreed to let Mr. Ford, who purchased the property in August 1969, install an apartment at 30 Mercer, a second at 32 Mercer, plus rent 10 rooms on either side of the half-filled. Earlier, the board had placed a limit of six years and a two year limitation. This time, it placed no time limit on its recommendation.

Mr. Ford's attorney, Sydney Souter, told the board that his client ultimately plans to convert the building, which has a long history, into two town houses and no rooming house which would make it conform completely to zoning laws. Mr. Souter pointed out that a two-family house such as 30-32 Mercer is not permitted use in a R-4 zone.

For economical reasons, Mr. Souter told the board, Mr. Ford needed to rent 10 rooms. Even so, he said, he was incurring a $3,000 loss in income. The profit from over 20 rooms or more was in excess of $5,000 above carrying costs. The building presently has one apartment and 21 rooms.

All of the surrounding neighbors were in favor of Mr. Ford's proposal.

ASSISTANCE NEEDED
By Day Care Center. The Princeton Day Care Center has suffered a disastrous setback due to an unusual lack of office of Economic Opportunity funds. The Center, open daily from 7:30 a.m. until 5:30 p.m. to accommodate working mothers, is providing a nursery program and two meals a day for 17 children aged 3 to 5 since last September.

According to Mrs. Eve Dayton, head teacher, there is a need for community volunteers who can devote a scheduled time, as little as two hours a week, to read stories, give some direction to activities and in general help supervise the youngsters.

Equipment needed includes a record player, children's records, picture books and story books, bookshelves to serve as "cubbies" for toys and equipment. All donations should be in good condition, as there are no funds for replacement.

Mrs. Dayton has three paid neighborhood aides who take turns assisting her. A woman from the neighborhood comes in daily to cook a hot lunch for the children.

Princeton Day Care Center is located in the basement of First Presbyterian Church, John Street. The telephone is 424-0877.

DOORBELLS ARE RINGING
For Senator McCarthy. Although teenagers can't vote, they can get out and work for the candidate of their choice. As many as 100 volunteers from Princeton Day, Princeton High and Stuart Country Day Schools.

For the past two Saturdays, they have been working in the Borough and Township selling McCarthy buttons, stickers and scarves, and asking for contributions and contributions. Over $250 has been collected so far. Students interested in joining the drive should call McCarthy Headquarters, 921-2700.

ANNUAL REPORT ISSUED
By Arts Council. William K. Soden, president of the Arts Council of Princeton, has issued the organization's first Annual Report of the President. The complete text of the report appears on Page 30 of this issue.

The Council's first annual meeting will be held Tuesday at 7 p.m. in the second floor conference room of Public Library, to discuss the president's report. All interested individuals are invited.

The report lists three projects currently under consideration by the Council, including a state of space available to organizational members for facilities. Mrs. Ned O'Connor and William J. Beeners head the study.

The Council Board of Trustees has also considered holding a spring arts festival. The suggestion proved too ambitious for the Arts Council's first year, according to the report, but a calendar of events in the arts was prepared instead. An arts festival is still possible next spring. Mr. Soden said.

A final project for the Council will be the development and maintenance of a mailing list for organizational members, to be available at cost. Mr. Soden commented that the initial financing would pose a problem, but the cost of maintenance would be relatively small.

The original and current members of the Board of Trustees are Robert V. Dilley, Alan F. Powers, Mrs. James J. Fahey, Arthur J. Gilligan, Mrs. De' Connor Smith, Mr. Soden and Mrs. De' Connor Smith. The Board will be increased to include a dozen trustees at the meeting Tuesday, June 26, at 7 p.m. at the home of opera singer Joshua Hecht.

Exhibitors include Ben Shahn, Jacob Landau, Greene, Presinger, Stein, Stein, Peter Berliner, Jack Bernstein, Bernarda Bryson, Vivian Crozier, Ron Curtis, Liza Minnelli, Sol Libsohn, Billie Bob, Robert Mueller, Ed Schlesnick and Herb Steinberg.

Prices will begin at $100, accompanied by refreshments.

Further information is available from Norman Hall, 448 1397.

MUSIC In Princeton

MIXED RECEPTION

For Violinist at McCarter, James Daver, a student of the violinist, was heard in a Series I recital at McCarter Theatre on Monday evening. His program was varied and included the Sonatas E. Major and D. Major. Both the PARTITA No. 3 in E Major for Unaccompanied Violin; the Sonata in D Major, Op. 108 of Brahms. Stravinsky's "Introduction to the Rite of Spring" for Violin and Piano and two shorter composition by Pablo de Sarasate, the "Malaguena" and "Introduction and Tarantella." David Garver was at the piano.

Music in Princeton

Also on Page 30

As one can read from the program listing, this was an ambitious undertaking. The violinist, however, seems to have the technique but has yet to evolve a personal style and approach to the music he plays. Every thing, excepting the Sarasate pieces, was as good as could be, but the unyielded emotional, spiritually, and sometimes even musically, with the Brahms Sonata being notably the weakest interpretation of the night.

The Mozart Sonata in E Major, a quaint melancholy two movement work, was given an affected, somewhat pretentious by Mr. Garver but a totally illegible reading by Mr. Buswell. There was no body to his tone. His phrases seemed to hang and the tender qualities of the music went by unnoticed.

The Unaccompanied Bach Partita was played efficiently, however, with the violin and without regard to phrasing. This is not to imply that Mr. Buswell's performances were wholly inadequate. His interpretation simply appealed to be lackluster and detached.

The Brahms Sonata No. 3 in D Major was the recipient of one of the best readings this reviewer has heard in memory. The pianist, displaying a preference for extreme acrobatics, returned to the violin on an overly mannered light touch on the shorter phrases, gave the impression of one interpreting a Debussy Arabesque instead of the necessarily broad strokes of Brahms' musical design. Through all of this, Mr. Buswell played with fire for his learned tone of the night in which he was to be a major disappointment.

The Stravinsky Duo Concertante, on the other hand, fared very well. The dryness of Stravinsky's two classic duum ap peared to be in the two performers' style of playing. Here there was a proper balance between Mr. Garver's can pointed rhythmic attacks and Mr. Buswell's dynamic. The cohesiveness of interpretation bled well with Stravinsky's clear, precise and elegant writing for the two instruments.

The two chamber works on the program, both by Sarasate, were extremely well played by Mr. Buswell. Whether it be the sureness of his violin or the necessity of mastering this area of the violinist's repertoire, Mr. Buswell certainly delivered polished performances with the playing of these pieces. As an encore, Mr. Buswell returned to play a transcription of a Chopin Nocturne.

News Of The CHURCHES

PASTORS VOTE MEMORIAL

To Martin Luther King. Members of the Princeton Pastors' Association have requested the Regional Board of Education to change the name of Community Park School to "Martin Luther King Community School." The resolution was passed at the past April 18 meeting and transmitted by letter to the board from the Rev. Eliot Daley of First Princeton Church.

Board members Dr. Harvey D. Rotman reported to the board Tuesday on discussions with the PPA: "Is Princeton ready for this kind of memorial? I think we believe that Martin Luther King believed in, then we are. If we are involved in the kind of thing that Dr. King has had to deal with in the high school, we are not ready."

William Marvel of the board noted that the board members have been weighing suggestions for a "fitting memorial" and that the PPA's proposal to request be included in the list. The board agreed.

SPORTS In Princeton

NETMEN WIN BIG

Upset Christian Brothers. It would be hard to believe that two players from the junior football team had never played together before won the deciding doubles match here Monday to give Princeton High 10-9 victory over Christian Brothers Academy. That's what happened, though, and as a result of the heroes of Mike Skillman and Mike Jameson, who owns an unlikely 5-0 record.

The victory was the Little Tigers' first over Christian Brothers in many years. "It was an exciting match," said coach Bob Orr.

Earlier in the week, PHS had beaten primarily undefeated Princeton High. Coach Tom Sheehan's team had beaten Princeton with a 5-0 log, but as he watched his team being beaten, he said, "All teams are against us. This is our first real competition."

Other Sports on Pages 40-44

The lone victim was Princeton No. 1 player Ted Fritsch, who lost in three sets.

Up coming home matches: Princeton will play Friday afternoon at 3:45 and PHS Monday at 3:30.

An injury to Scott Rennan and illness that sidelined Bill Carroll played hob with the two PHS doubles teams in the Christian Brothers match. Orr excused the remaining players from each team a team of John Panzer and Ted Ford — which lost.

So did Fritsch after taking the opening set. However, the number two and the singles players, Robbie Sonnenchein and Billy Liederman, won in straight sets to tie the match. He left it up to Skillman and Jamison who won in three sets.

Both Sonnenchein and Liederman are juniors. "They're both excellent," pointed out Orr.

"Liederman," he says, "is very well. When he's on, nobody can come close to him. But like all players when he's off, he can be pretty wild." Fortunately, Billy was on Monday.

PHS SWAMPS NOTRE DAME
In Track 90-36. Winning first place in all 14 events, the Princeton High School track team easily defeated visiting Notre Dame Tuesday, 90-36. The team's scorekeeper reported that it was believed to be the first time that any PHS track team has won every event.

Double winners for PHS were Paul Mazzarella, both hurdle events; Julian Sotirovsky, 100 and 220; and Bob Thompson, pole vault and high jump. Benson won the mile in 4:16.9.

For PHS, it was its second dual meet victory of the season. "The big figures are not overpowering this year, but are 6'11 to 6'6," remarked "Notre Dame is even less so." The meet was finished in a steady rain.

PAHR PRIORITIES

The recent report of the President's Advisory Commission on Civil Disorders has focused national attention on the threat of racism dividing American society. Unless positive steps are taken, there is little doubt that our society will become even more polarized and social unrest will continue at an increased intensity.

The ability to deal with complex social problems is at hand, but there must be the will to commit available resources to solving them. PAHR commends Len Newton for his extensive listing of real community needs. Below are twelve points which PAHR feels the Princeton community must address itself to immediately.

1. This summer, local research establishments and firms should employ about 100 Negro teenagers and college students in jobs that teach skills.

2. There should be a coordinated industrial, university and local government program to educate and train local people in order to upgrade skills of those now shut out from employment opportunities.

3. The education of students who are not going on to college should become an important concern of educators and the education system since these students are outside of the main body of Princeton Isle.

4. A local Human Rights Commission should be created to enforce state and local laws.

5. A coordinator of community relations should be designated to provide continuing communication between local government and the community.

6. Realtors located in Princeton should have a stated open housing policy.

7. Ways must be sought to upgrade substandard owner-occupied housing without displacing the occupants or raising the price of the houses to the point that low-cost housing disappears from the market.

8. There should be a commitment to support Princeton Community Housing, Inc., in its efforts to provide moderate and low-cost housing in the Borough and Township.

9. Funds should be raised to support local groups like the Youth Center, the Study Center, Princeton Community Day Care Center, etc.

10. The excellent swimming facilities at Community Park should be open some extra days during the week at off peak times, with no fee, to students who will be on the streets.

11. A climate of understanding and trust must be established between the community and its police department. A committee should be formed to explore methods to achieve better police relations.

12. All community resources should be brought to bear on these important problems. The University's Department of Urban Affairs should investigate local problems and formulate solutions.

To quote the late Dr. Martin Luther King: "We must address ourselves to the fierce urgency of now."

Annual membership dues in Princeton Association for Human Rights is $2.00 per person. Additional contributions welcome.

If you would like to help PAHR with any of the above priorities and/or help in the office and be on the mailing list, please write to PAHR, 30 MacLean Street, Princeton, N.J. 08540.

A Disservice to Princeton.

To the Editor of Town Topics:
Memorial Day is set aside as an occasion for Americans to remember and honor all Americans who have died in the service of the goals of freedom and democracy for which Mother King struggled were related to the goals for which U.S. forces have fought in the past, the Princeton Association for American Legion was asked to "feel that it would be appropriate to establish a Martin Luther King Brigade" under whose banner "freedom and justice" Princeton would "pay tribute to those who wished to remember and honor the many Americans who have died fighting for American freedom and human rights."

PAHR deeply regrets that the American Legion was adamant in their rejection of the request that such a group be included in the parade.

Answer to a "Racist".

To the Editor of Town Topics:
The violent and racist outburst of Sheila Hatcher Jones, First Baptist Church, worship period was cause for deep embarrassment to both the congregation present and to those absent. It is unfortunate that she has said here, that Sheila Hatcher Jones, is not even a member in good standing of the First Baptist Church.

Her interpretation of our Church service last Sunday was an outburst against Mr. Spanel's gift of $1,000 to the First Baptist Church to enable us to attend the meeting of the Southern Christian Leadership Conference was appalling. She "soap-boxed" that Mr. Spanel's voluntary gift was not given to the memory of Dr. Martin Luther King, Jr., at a time when the whole world was united, black and white, rich and poor, to honor the works of a great man.

Her racist outburst was as crude as it was unfounded. She knew absolutely nothing of Mr. Spanel's deep and liberal causes; and that for a quarter of a century he has demonstrated the workability of racial integration, north and south alike.

My congregation joins me in hoping that this unmerited attack on Mr. Spanel will not deter him from continuing his generous efforts in just causes.

Kenneth Michael Praised.

To the Editor of Town Topics:

These comments regarding Dr. Kenneth Michael, the principal of Princeton High School, has passed into legend. In this period of crisis for which the nation as a whole is responsible, Ken Michael has always been a top administrator. The community has taken his ability pretty much for granted. Do we all know how important an educational leader he is?

While some principals in other communities have locked themselves in their offices, Ken Michael has been working day and night with his students, groups of pupils and individual pupils, and outside people. It is his school, and he wants to keep it open. It is educational institution it has always been.

We owe him a debt of gratitude far greater than a letter to the paper. We should be prepared to offer our help and support if and when he asks for it. It is our high school, too. The school is a reflection of our community. I suggest that we all let Ken Michael know that Princeton stands behind him and will do all that we can to make the high school a model for the nation.

Determination of Guilt.

To the Editor of Town Topics:

TOWN TOPICS' nomination of Ashley Montagu as "Prince-ton's Man of the Week" (April 1) was probably prompted, in part, by Dr. Montagu's letter to The New York Times of April 8 which you quote: "We are as responsible for the death of one of humanity's greatest leaders, Martin Luther King, as if we had pulled the trigger ourselves."

On the same date, Professor Richard J. Pipes of Harvard wrote to The Times, and Dr. Montagu's comment as "appalling," and declared "Responsibility for any act and guilt for any injustice can be ascribed only to the individual or the individuals who commit them."

May I suggest that both Dr. Montagu and Mr. Pipes are equally though not equally guilty of sweeping and indiscriminate generalizations which confuse rather than clarify difficult ethical judgments?

In flat, uncharitable, vicious or arrogant responses to evil, Dr. Pipes flies in the face of an accepted axiom among

The first wedding according to the Byzantine Rite to be held in Princeton University Chapel took place on Saturday afternoon when Mark Barbara Leecky, married to Steven Yuhas. Particulars are on the Engagements & Weddings page.

Although the Chapel was founded by Presbyterians and its dean, the Rev. Ernest Gordon, is a Presbyterian, the Chapel is ecumenically inter-denominational during the past decade. A number of ecumenical services have been held there. Easter Sunday, April 20, held Easter matins on April 20 in the Marquand Transept, a precedent set several years ago.

Bishop, Rev. W. Alvin of the Catholic Diocese of Trenton recently officiated at a mass in the chapel. The Byzantine Rite is the only attempt to reconcile the Roman Catholic and Eastern Orthodox denominations.

MUSIC vs. SPRING

At Princeton Concert. The members of the combined glee clubs of Goucher College and Princeton University had just completed a performance of Haydn's "Nelson" Mass on a beautiful late April Sunday afternoon.

During the intermission, the glee clubs strayed and scattered with their instruments about Alsterdorfer Hall to the sounds of a twentieth century world; rock and roll emanating from a piano, "Mother Courage" another Brecht; Shakespeare's "Julius Caesar"; "The Death of a Salesman"; another Brecht; the two of Bernard Shaw; "Major Barbara" and "The Devil's Disciple" and O'Neill's "The Emperor Jones".

Roach has a pleasing quality,

"Lord Nelson Mass" of 1798 and Mozart's "Vesperi". K. 321 were the festive works on the third program of the Princeton University Chamber Orchestra concert series in Princeton. Walter Noller conducted the company of Elizabeth Laverne and the soloists who were Lois Laverne, soprano; Laura Roach, alto; Bruce Campbell, tenor; and William Martin, bass.

This music is resplendent in rich sonorities, clarity of ideas and beauty of line. It is great music and a pleasure to hear, especially performed so well by the two choral groups under Mr. Noller's able direction.

The soloists, with the exception of Mr. Martin's bass, were well received. It seems, however, especially in the area of projection or control, Miss Laverne was not up to the level of the other soloists. The whole was beautifully shaped and paced by Mr. Noller, but by the size of the crowd attending the concert, it appears that this writer's suspicion that there were more persons on stage than in the audience, an

"The Crucible"? If you follow the lead of most of the American critics, it was your time McCarter repertory favorite.

The theatre polled audiences to find out what plays they had seen most. McCarter has mounted in the past seven years.

After "The Crucible," the most favorite favorites were: "Galileo" by Brecht; "She Stoops to Conquer" by Goldsmith; Shakespeare's "Henry IV" and "Mother Courage" another Brecht; Shakespeare's "Julius Caesar"; "The Death of a Salesman"; another Brecht; the two of Bernard Shaw; "Major Barbara" and "The Devil's Disciple" and O'Neill's "The Emperor Jones".

Roach has a pleasing quality, but her solo seems narrow, in expressive range, while Miss Laverne's instrument appeared to be out of control.

She sang with a start at off-key pitch, most likely due to a wide vibrato. She was best in the pastoral section when she sang with a clear, bright, rhythmic line. The Loudon Dominium of the Mozart Vespers. Mr. Campbell did not have a bad solo part, was steady and solid in the ensemble. The organ registration may have been a little off, but nevertheless sounded reedy, high pitched and thin.

Perhaps the most notable disappointment of the afternoon was the solo of Miss Laverne, which was both whole beautifully shaped and paced by Mr. Noller, but by the size of the crowd attending the concert, it appears that this writer's suspicion that there were more persons on stage than in the audience, an Chaplin's first film in 15 years, and probably the last he will ever make, is an old-fashioned love story, with people who are not too good, but are not too bad, and are considerate. What Chaplin seems to be saying is that this is just what we need in today's world, and in his quiet way shows us how pleasant the world can be.

The film, starring Sophia Loren, was released in March 1960, and received much of the public because it is unsophisticated, and because there is nothing pretentious, simply, simply around to compare with. Many of the critics have had second thoughts and put the film on their 10-best lists for 1967.

Elvira Madigan (now playing in Sweden) picture with English subtitles, has called rare notice to the art film critics.

In Sweden, Elvira Madigan received critical acclaim. The character was known through a sentimental ballad recounting her beloved love affair with an Army lieutenant named Sven Sparre. Ostracized by society and unable to find work, they decide the only solution is death.

The performances of Pia Bergengren and Birthe Lindberg are vividly alive. Bo Widerberg, the writer-director, has given the film notable sensitivity of direction, placing the love story in a stunning effect, against some of the most beautiful backgrounds in nature imaginable. Mozart's Piano Concerto No. 21 threads through the film.

Embarrassment of riches it would seem.

The Princeton Chamber Orchestra, which plays to sell-out houses on tour, may be a group of bad school girls here at home. The community, where concerts are frequent, amidst theater drama, ballet and fine domestic and foreign literature, may be more imperative for these Princeton Chamber Orchestra concerts to be scheduled only on Monday evenings between Series I and II, if possible.

During the beautiful spring weather, most people are either gardening or engaged in some sport, or some activity with their families and friends. Even a concert as fine as the one presented last Sunday cannot compete with Spring.

"AN IMPLOSION"

"Medea" to Be Given. Described by its composer, Clyde Tipton, as "an implosion of light, pantomime, work, scent and sound scored for actors, technicians and musicians," the opera "Medea" will be given in premiere Saturday at 8:30 at the New Jersey State Museum, Trenton. "Medea" will be repeated on Saturday in a 3 p.m. matinee.

Mr. Tipton's conception is based on a play by Frederick Oleski. Bernard Miller will direct the cast, which includes Geri Bryan as Medea, Bruce Seaman as Jason, Dick Hagg as Creon and Robin Durand as Glauke.

Mr. Tipton and Mr. Oleski have combined their talents before, as members of the "Ensemble Six" production organization. The composer wrote the score for Mr. Oleski's film, "Ism" and the music for his verse drama "Ecco L'Uomo". The composer says that "Medea" started out to be an opera, but he grew the form. "I have combined pantomime, speech, lighting, scent and sound, using each element as a section in an orchestra of the concert." The music may be the melody, while lighting plays the accompaniment, or there might be a duet between the drama on stage and the taped music."

Professional ethicists from the Greek philosophers to the Hebrew prophets to our own day. When I learn that a distinguished American authority on the "Rule of Law" from Duke University has concluded that the "rule of law" is not only violated in the trial, conviction and eventual trial, conviction and sentence of 37 South-West Africans by the South African Government, which characterizes the Terrorism Act as which "monstrous, Draconian, ridiculous piece of legislation," I share the guilt, for my income tax deduction of 25% of the inflated 25% profit of U.S. firms whose activities in South Africa are a principal and indispensable support of the vicious system of apartheid, condemned by the entire civilized world; and institutions of which I am a trustee, such as Princeton University, hold substantial amounts of the ten thousand U.S. Banks whose $40,000,000 credit to the South African Government makes me a direct participant with the Government in the abominable travesty of elemental justice. To be sure, I have taken some steps to attempt to avert responsible American policies to be carried through American finance with the most brutal and heartless racial discrimination, repression and cruelty on earth; but I might have done more!

On the other hand, Dr. Montagu appears wholly to overlook that there are degrees of viciousness in racism which is, likewise, an elemental axiom of sound ethical thinking. When innocent Africans are incarcerated for long sentences on patently trumped-up evidence, I share in responsibility and guilt for their fate. But, when Martin Luther King is assassinated, my responsibility and blame are entirely for him, a fellow American and fellow Christian, and I should have done much more to forestall this kind of elemental human degradation.

However, when a splendid young woman bank teller is shot to death in broad daylight in a bank, while a white sometime crowds master past, as a resident of Princeton I am far more directly and culpably involved and guilty, for I am every other day exposed to the fact that Princeton might have done immeasurably more to assure a degree of respect for and enforcement of law than this which would have prevented such wanton and pointless murder. May I suggest that any TOWN TOPICS reader who does not associate himself personally with responsibility for the crime is lacking in basic ethical insight and conscience?

HENRY P. VAN DUSEN

Help Wanted.

To the Editor of Town Topics: I am a plain white, tried and true customer of James Bovino who owns and operates a market at 39 Leigh Avenue, and all residents of Princeton, including myself, have been deeply moved by the protection of property, to protect me in my attempt to see that he is granted that legal right to protection against the abomination of property damage has been done since Nov. 67.

On April 9, I wrote the following letter to the Township Chief of Police and sent a copy of that letter to Mayor Schaefer but, date neither. Mr. Bovino nor I have had any kind of response. Please help order to restore and maintain law and order.

We all want a happy, peaceful law-abiding community. These are the moral cornerstones upon which a community in time and force a people to leave and seek other places to live where they can be sure of justice and protection to protection under the law.

My Dear Chief Campbell:

As a resident, not of the township, I admit, but of Princeton, never the less, I am a law-abiding citizen as to what steps I am and I would like it. In detail, please, are being taken to find and apprehend those responsible for breaking windows at Mr. Bovino's Market at 39 Leigh Avenue. This act has taken place not just once but several times. As he has been told that as soon as he has new windows put in they will be broken again. Also I would like to know what steps if any are being taken to prevent this very against stealing and acts of vandalism. This is a disgrace.

I am sending a copy of this letter to Mayor Schaefer and requesting that he send it to the local Newspapers. Mr. Bovino is a very fine citizen. I have been a customer of his for ten years now and feel he has received no interest in his problem whatever and I am going to make it my business to see that something is done to protect his property and that the culprits responsible for the damage are caught and apprehended.

(Mrs. Edward Marshall)

Route 206 Widening Bit.

To the Editor of Town Topics: Following is the text of a letter I have sent to Carl C. Schaefer, Mayor of Princeton Township.

In January 1967, the Planning Board adopted a new Road Master Plan for Princeton Township. Among other things, it provides for Route 206, the Lawrence Township Line to the Montgomery Township Line, to have a 60 foot wide right-of-way.

In March 1968, the New Jersey State Department of Transportation, in the newspapers, announced a new Road Master Plan which includes a four-lane Route 206 through Princeton.

Is there any connection between these two propositions? Is it merely a coincidence that the new Township Master Plan establishes an 80-foot width for Route 206, and the State Master Plan provides for a new race track through Princeton? Why does the Township make it easy for the State to widen Route 206, while the Township is unable to widen a road that the Township neither owns nor nor maintains?

I have been assured that the only purpose of the Township Planning Board, in making Route 206 an 80-foot wide right-of-way, was to facilitate the expropriation of property owners who might, after 1967, attempt to subdivide their lands. How does that make sense?

Let's do our best to keep Route 206 through Princeton, only 16 miles (approximately 18%) is the road frontage of large estates and built-on woodland.

What of the remaining 82%, consisting of almost 300 private dwellings and business? Over all this property now hangs a sword that is ever ready to strike.

Yester evening, the Fall of 1967, every man running for office in Princeton assured us voters, in his honor, that there was no intention of ever widening Route 206.

Let's stop playing games, Mr. Mayor. While the new Master Plan is still under consideration, let us forever rule out the right to widen all property on Route 206 by eliminating the provision for an 80-foot right-of-way.

Children Troubled, Too:

To the Editor of Town Topics: Today my 10 year old daughter came home from school disturbed over the growing tension between black and white children in her school.

After the recent Martin Luther King's assassination, a significant number of the 4th and 5th graders in the Princeton Regional Elementary School where she attends have been fighting, both verbally and physically, on the playground. I asked her the kinds of things that are being said, she said, "The white kids say they're glad Martin Luther King, the leader of the colored, is dead. They say that as in the adult community, previous friendships are being torn apart, and the children feel they must take sides and defend their stands.

This situation disturbs me, it disturbs me because it is a symptom of the deep-seated sickness and hate that is surfacing everywhere we turn.

Most of us change only when we feel our self-interest is at stake. I feel this is definitely so today. How can children, black or white, achieve anywhere near their potential if they are caught up in this tension and hate-filled society?

"What can we do?" is the cry we hear again and again in these troubled times. I feel the most important, and really most difficult, beginning, is to examine our own attitudes. It will require us to understand the plight of the Negro, as is stated in both the Governor's and President's Riot Commission's Report. Behaviors us to start our own attitudes. One reads the Riot Reports, one has an opportunity to examine his own attitudes and see what changes can work on toward constructive changes in the many areas in which this is mandatory if the society is to survive.

Library will have several copies available in hope that we also have several

Special Message to the Legislature that is also still required reading for all of us who care what happens to our State and therefore to our Nation.

The Governor’s message represents the first effort by any State of the Union to respond seriously — and not just rhetorically — to massive social, economic and psychological problems which beset the Nation. It is a superb response — though honest and humanistic — in favor of the wholehearted support of all thoughtful, honest and humane citizens.

I urge my fellow Princetonians to read the full text of Senator Side Ridolfi and Richard Coffey, Assemblymen William Schlueter and John Selecky to indicate Princeton’s willingness to carry its fair share of the financial burden involved through the enactment of a graduated income tax about one half that of New York State.

We can afford this tax. Without it, decay of the cities will become disintegration and unrest will develop into chaos; that none of us can afford.

A Preventable Accident.

To the Editor of Town Topics:

As a recently-returned Princetonian after four years of teaching at Princeton and the surrounding townships and boroughs on their excellent emergency facilities, I was a passenger on the Suburban Transit bus last Wednesday evening. I was walking to my car in a collision with a car at the Kingston bridge on Route 27.

The speed, efficiency and humanity shown by the various police departments and emergency squads involved were indeed impressive. From the scene of the accident those of us injured were taken to the emergency room of the Princeton Hospital, where again one could not help but be impressed by the excellence, efficiency and kindness shown by all the hospital staff. I can only hope that people living in our area appreciate the facilities available in times of emergency.

The only thing I can find to criticize is that this tragic, and possibly fatal, accident could have been avoided at all. To my mind all these facilities, excellent as they are, should not be used for accidents that are preventable. Why the Kingston bridge is designed to remain in its present form on a major route is inexplicable.

Help Needed.

To the Editor of Town Topics: The Princeton Study Center serves a double purpose with its Summer Enrichment Program.

It provides an opportunity for 30 youngsters to develop new interests and exposed to new ideas and experiences and have a maximum of individual attention (one staff member to every two children). Hopefully, a summer member will carry over to better attitudes and performance in school.

Secondly, the Study Center has hired 15 teenaged staff members. The teenagers have the chance to earn some summer money and at the same time take part in a program which stresses understanding personal relationships and creative approaches to learning.

Our staff members have always felt that the six-week program has been enrichment for them as well as for the children. The staff will again be under the imaginative guidance of Tom Carroll, a qualified teacher and Director of the Summer Program for the past three years, who is returning from a year away from Princeton especially to direct the Program.

We must get the funds that we need to salaries from individuals in the community. We are only $900 short of our goal. We do hope the community will recognize the worth of this program and make an appointment to see Peter Gross, 200 Brookstone Road. Checks should be made out to Princeton Study Center and contributions are tax-deductible.

Aid for Newark Appreciated.

To the Editor of Town Topics:

Many thanks to the Cranbury area residents who have opened their garages, closets and attics in an effort to help Newark’s first victims. Between the first phone call on Monday morning and the arrival of a truck from the Warrenton, 30 people contributed four beds, two cribs, three chairs, a 9x12 hooked rug and many items of clothing and household goods.

This generous response will be deeply appreciated by the true victims. My personal thanks to all who helped and gave.

Why the Flag Was Flown.

To the Editor of Town Topics:

My letter to TOWN TOPICS, April 11 regarding the dropping of the flag as a sign of awareness among the mourning community of white brothers produced two significant responses. One responded that she had not hung the flag in recent years because, to do so, seemed to symbolize support for the Vietnam war; however, she had hung it in honor of Dr. King.

The other mentioned seeing some public buildings in Princeton and some rural homes between here and Lam-

FOOD FOR THOUGHT. A luncheon sister to the Nassau Inn appears a dress worn by Sue Lawrence, fashion coordinator for Clayton's. The store presents an informal fashion show every Tuesday and Thursday from noon to 2.

Mixing Food, Fashions on The Square

Clayton's and Nassau Inn Present Luncheon Show

Two venerable Princeton institutions, H.P. Clayton and the Nassau Inn, have for some time banded together to show that the new versions of the haute couture and haute cuisine can have delightful effects for everyone — most of all the customer.

The department store provides the fashions for informal modeling of seasonal clothing every Tuesday and Thursday from 12 1/2 till 2, and the Nassau Inn provides the setting in its three restaurants.

bread pocket.

Voices of Dissent. Occasionally a voice of dissent will be heard in the midst of the general enjoyment, such as that of Dr. H. Lawrence, who had taken a group of undergraduates to work on a lunch, and found it soundly tormented by the boys, suddenly a female appeared, at least as worn but stunning blonde and a gorgeous blonde.

The same administrator, who was lunching in the Nassau Kee Doodle Tap Room, was somewhat repaid by his pleasure in watching a European visitor, of obviously superb manners, who politely leapt to his feet and bowed every time a model passed through.

One Princeton woman, however, is completely sold on the business of the fashion shows. She was lunching with her three-year-old daughter, who followed the pretty ladies with rapt attention and snapped into motionless awe when one of them leaned over in the midst of a piroquette and said, "Now eat those string beans before I come back!"

Fashions in Season. The fashions shown reflect the season, and include robes at Christmas time, sports clothes most of the year, and the dressy suits, hats, and gloves appropriate to the moment, anytime.

Suits are shown only if they are accompanied by matching overgarments, otherwise the head-swinging might become too fervent. The clothes are chosen by Clayton's fashion designer, Suzanne Lawrence, who also helps them with the assistance of two other models. The women are professional models who are trained and find this a good way to keep in touch with their profession.

In the two years since the venture started, both parties from the TV. Nassau Inn finds the show an added attraction for the lunch time crowd, and Mrs. Everett B. Garrelson, who has found that the seeds for many sales have been sown during the fashion shows.

Many a wife order clothes for their wives right during the modeling, and this seems to be a popular way of solving the problem of what to bring back to the wife for the next time.

Several Princeton men appear to do their gift selecting during the show, and are aided by Clayton's "The Gentleman's" Project. The guide which many a wife's mother has filled with her clothing sizes and shipped into her husband's events of the winter months.

the purpose and participants in the Heart Fund Party, have helped to set a climate of awareness. In this way the seed was sown across the state toward the Mercer County Heart Fund, as well as the need for financial support were heralded.

Violence Depicted.
To the Editor of Town Topics:

Now that one can view the recent urban violence with perhaps a little more objectivity it seems to me that the Negroes would be the ones to benefit the most from the national conscience to their plight had they not reacted forcefully to the loss of one of their great men.

The Negroes, however, fear sometimes he solitary and as Sir Winston Churchill is said to have remarked during the dark days of World War II, "The sight of the gallows clears the mind."

Violence, however, must in the long run be resisted, for the strong inclination in this country to admire force and lawlessness rather than reason and our insensitivity to one another which appears on the increase, witness littering, is deplorable.

D. H. Lawrence's criticisms of life in the United States have often bitter and realistic reason to recommend that we ignore this is hard to ignore today. "There is a shadow of violence and dark cruelty flickering in the air. It is the aboriginal disease of the continent. It hovers still, and the dread is still there." Isn't it about time more steps were taken to exercise this dread?

Arts Council of Princeton, Inc.

First Annual Report of the President

May 1968

The Arts Council of Princeton, Inc. is now a reality. No sudden whim of just a few individuals, this recently incorporated association has been created to serve as a coordinating agency for all the performing and visual arts organizations in Princeton and to assist in their development.

An open meeting of the Council was held at the Princeton Public Library on January 29 with some eighty persons in attendance. As a result of the discussions and suggestions at that meeting the Board has initiated explorations of three projects:

First — a study is being made of potentially available space to assist the organizational members in their varying needs for facilities. Concurrently the organizations are being requested to indicate the extent and type of space needed. Mrs. Neill O'Connor and William J. Beeners are conducting these explorations.

Second — serious consideration was given to holding an arts festival for a day or a weekend in Princeton this spring, or for publicizing "the merry month of May" for the arts in Princeton. These and other suggestions proved to be more ambitious than the Council with its small Board of Trustees could manage for its first year. To study and work on this project a committee was appointed comprising Gordon Andrews, chairman, Professor Beeners, Mrs. Nathaniel Burt, Mrs. Gibson F. Bailey, Mrs. Estelle Johnson, Byron R. Berk, Arthur Lithgow, Philip E. MacPherson, Mrs. Herbert E. McAneny, and Mrs. O'Connor. As a result of the work of this committee a calendar of events in the arts for the month of May was prepared and has been printed in the May issues of The Princeton Packet and Town Topics. One of the immediate questions which the newly elected Board of Trustees will have to consider is the continuation of such a calendar, possibly on a monthly basis. With more time for planning and preparation the new Board will also be asked to consider the possibility of an arts festival in Princeton in May 1969.

Third — explorations have been initiated with respect to the development and maintenance of a common mailing list which would be available at cost to the various organizational members of the Council. At the present time each maintains its own list and in most cases they are laboriously and independently maintained. The initial financing for the preparation of a punch card mailing list would be a matter of some concern. However, if the organizations collectively would make sufficient use of a common list, the costs of maintenance would be relatively small and the benefits in efficiency widespread. Further investigations of this possibility are being pursued by the Board.

THE FIRST ANNUAL MEETING of the Council will be held on Tuesday, May 7, 1968 at 8 p.m. in the second floor conference room of the Princeton Public Library.

Since all interested individuals are invited to attend, this annual report of the President is made available publicly in advance of the meeting.

History — Various individuals concerned with the arts in the community had been discussing for several years ways to form a cooperative federation. Two years ago, with the formal encouragement of the Greater Princeton Chamber of Commerce and Civic Council, an organizing committee was assembled. From its deliberations and following informal consultations with officials of most of the established arts groups the Arts Council of Princeton was officially organized and incorporated in December, 1967. The Board of Trustees has laid papers seeking a ruling by the Internal Revenue Service declaring the Council eligible to receive tax-free contributions.

Policies — The articles of incorporation provide that the Council may perform such functions as: serve as a coordinating agency for its organizational members; assist these members in the development of adequate accommodations and facilities; act as liaison with federal and state arts commissions and other government agencies; and study, stimulate, and encourage appropriate action to enlarge the support, financial and otherwise, for the performing and visual arts.

Board of Trustees — The original and current members of the Board comprise Robert V. Dilley, Allan S. Downer, Mrs. James R. Faus, Arthur Lithgow, Mrs. Neill W. O'Connor, William K. Selde, and Mrs. DeWitt Smith. According to the by-laws of the Council the Board must be increased in size from its present membership of seven to no fewer than 12 at the first annual meeting to be held on May 7.

To propose nominations for officers and Board members a nominating committee has been appointed comprising Mrs. Faus, chairman, Mrs. Kenneth Chorley, Mr. Dilley, Mrs. Burton Peskin, and Walter L. Nollner.

Membership — At present there are two types of membership in the Council: (1) Non-profit organizations actively engaged in the performing or visual arts and (2) interested individuals. Organizations operating for profit and wishing to support the Council are urged to invite their members to become individual members of the Council. As of April 23 there are 19 organizational and 33 individual members. Other types of memberships may be authorized by the Board of Trustees.

Finances — Since incorporation the receipts of the Arts Council have amounted to $615.00 from organizational and individual membership dues in addition it has received donations amounting to $380.00.

The individual dues for organizational members are $15.00 and for individual members $10.00 for the fiscal year July 1 - June 30. It is anticipated that the primary sources of income for the operations of the Council will be from individual members' dues and from contributions and grants.

The consensus of the present Board has been to plan for operations of the Council on a modest budget and to direct funds to the largest possible extent to the actual operations of the organizational members concerned and active in the performing and visual arts.

Operations — To operate with modest success, even in the one area of a common calendar, a secretary, at least part-time, and space in an unprestigious office will be required. On such an operational basis volunteer help will also be needed to fulfill even some of the many suggestions already made for further activities of the Council.

The Future of the Arts Council — Based upon the requests for assistance from many of the arts organizations in Princeton and upon the general interest in the formation of this federation, in the community in the future. The arts organizations need a Council to facilitate their mutual cooperation and to act as liaison for them collectively with such agencies as the federal and state arts councils. The citizens of Princeton and the business and industrial concerns in the surrounding area need a single source of information about the arts.

The Council can perform many functions of a cooperative nature. Its ability to perform these functions will depend initially upon the organizations which join and upon the number of individuals who will become members and also contribute more than their minimum individual $10.00 dues. The success of the Council will further depend upon a Board of Trustees comprising individuals with both specific and broad interests in the arts and with concern for the cultural development of Princeton — the community, as well as its educational and other institutions.

To date we have been most fortunate in the number of individuals who have given generously in their efforts to create the Council. In addition to those whose names have been mentioned previously, note should be made of others who assisted the Board in one manner or another as it struggled with the numerous questions of organizational structure and initial operations: W. Howard Adams, Albert C. Barclay, Jr., Alan W. Carrick, Dan D. Coyle, Mrs. David Laedman, Samuel Lambert, and Mrs. Carol C. Stoddard. We are especially grateful to Albridge C. Smith III who has generously assisted the Council in its legal procedures.

With the continued interest of all these individuals and with the active support of many others, the Arts Council of Princeton should prove to be an asset to the community.

IT'S EASIER AND IT HURTS LESS, says Ignace Karasony in preferring an increased sales tax and cigarette tax over a state income tax. You've always got change in your pockets, he adds.

Question Of The Week

Question: To finance his programs, Governor Hughes has suggested an alternative to graduated state income tax, but has suggested as an alternative a one percent increase in the three percent sales tax plus a five cent hike in the cigarette tax. Which do you prefer?

Where asked: Chambers Street.

Ignace Karasony, 32 Snowden Lane, owner, Nassau Tailors, Chambers St. I'd rather pay five cents more for a cigarette than an income tax. It's easier to do. You always have change in your pockets. At the end of the year, the income tax is taken out of your pocket money. It hurts people's feelings. The other way they don't mind paying.

Tom Shaughnessy, 9 W. Brunswick, member of Rutgers University, I'll take the alternative. I'm paying enough income tax.

Douglas Bradley, Princeton Seminary student: I prefer the latter. It is an initiative, very personal. I think with an increase in the sales tax is that it's regressive; the poorer person has to spend more money but I don't know how significant this difference would be.

Marshall Cohen, 103 Bayard Lane, lecturer, mathematics department, Princeton University: I prefer the graduated state income tax because it leans less heavily on people who can least afford it. In other words it takes less from the poor.

Mrs. Elizabeth Morgan, Constitution Hill, housewife: I prefer a state income tax because I think it is fairer.

Mrs. Carl Peters, Titusville piano teacher: I hate the thought but I think a state income tax would be a good idea to belong to the League of Women Voters. We studied the problem and come to the conclusion a state income tax is best—although you squirm at the thought.

Jeffrey Marsh, 46 Wiggins Street, graduate student: An income tax is preferable to a sales tax, in general. It's redistributive whereas a sales tax takes from everyone whether they can afford it or not. I'd be in favor of a state income tax.

Miss Joyce Bonney, Levittown, dental assistant for Princeton dental. I like the latter. I don't think they're doing anything wrong in upping the cigarette tax. Hughes knew people are going to give up smoking even if it costs more. There's too much money spent on advertising and tied up with the industry. Let the smokers pay rather than everyone else. I prefer a one percent increase in the sales tax to an income tax.

Mrs. Ellen Wexler, 100 Clover Lane, housewife: A state income tax because New Jersey needs it to finance all its educational and other programs. It's much fairer, of course.

Mrs. Patricia Klench, Lawrence Township, secretary: I don't care which proposal is better but I don't think either proposal is enough. This is a palming amount. What they should do is draw up an all income tax and split it proportionately to the people and split it up to the people, and say, "This is what needs to be done. This is what it will cost." So much needs to be done. They should go to the public and the public will respond. But this is going to be small about it. It will take much more than this to correct all that's wrong in the state.

Vernon Hoagland Jr., 49 Clay Street, laborer: I'd rather pay a nickel more for cigarettes and one percent more than an income tax. I figure you end up paying more if they take so much a week out of your pay check. We're going to have to pay one way or the other.

Hugh L. Harris, Clay Street, Trenton, laborer: I think the five cent cigarette tax is good. The majority of people smoke. I smoke and I seldom smoke myself. I wouldn't mind paying the extra one percent sales tax. I think if the state is going to help people with people who can't afford to pay sales taxes, it's only right. What I think they should do is have a bulletin board in every place you buy telling what is taxable. You don't know what you are getting taxed for today. You just pay what they tell you.

YALE WEEKEND SET

Many Events With Ella Liston, Athletic activity Saturday will include a doubleheader. Princeton teams in traditional meetings with their Yale counterparts. A lacrosse game will start at 2 on Campbell Field, while a tennis match on the University Courts is set for the same time.

Yale and Princeton golf teams will play at Springfield, while the Carnegie and Princeton will be competing on the Housatonic River at Derby, Conn. The 150-lb. crews of Yale, Princeton, and Harvard will compete for the Goldwater Cup on Lake Carnegie. On the Housatonic River at Derby, Conn., Yale, Princeton, and Cornell will row for the Carnegie Cup.

An Eastern League baseball game is also scheduled for Saturday at 2 on Clarke Field. Dartmouth will provide the opposition.

LACROSSE IN TROUBLE

After loss to Harvard, apparently Princeton's lacrosse team concentrated too hard on the pre-Ivy portion of its schedule. Figures it could handle differently its local championship ship in stride. After a satisfactory showing against the four top teams in the U. S. (Maryland, Hopkins, Army, Navy), the Tigers lost to a 5-2 defeat by Rutgers, which compare!

Before buying any riding tractor, take a look with Simplicity.

■ SELECTION: With Simplicity in 1968, you pick from three tractors (5 to 12 hp) and a 4 hp riding mower. You get "job-tailored" tractors that fit.

■ NO-SCALP MOWING? If the mower's mounted on the tractor frame, you'll get scalping. By contrast, Simplicity's patented "center-tine" design places the cutting blade. Can't scalp—because the front wheels "telegraph" every change in ground contour.

■ ARE THE ATTACHMENTS MATCHED? Some tractor makers buy and "adapt" basic attachments. But Simplicity designs and builds its own. When you buy a Simplicity attachment on a Simplicity tractor, the combination works in perfect harmony.

■ WHAT'S INVOLVED IN THE CHARGE? The price of a tractor. Don't take anybody's word for it. Insist on a demonstration. You'll be amazed at the quick-changing difference in the life from Simplicity's made-for-each-other tractor-attachment design.

■ START COMPARING! Our yardstick of riding tractor values demonstrates the unmistakable difference between Simplicity and all other brands.

of the numerous tight situations in which he found himself.

Monday was marked by Princeton's 12th defeat in 19 games, a loss to Fordham, 14-6. The Tigers bowed easily to Fordham, but were beaten by 6-9. The visitors had a shutout going into the last round when Bob Weber decided to bring home one of Jim Adams' singles.

Bob Wolff, a sophomore who had beaten St. John's in his last appearance, was the victim of a 10-6 loss to Fordham. He scored. He yielded only half a dozen hits and single runs in the fourth, sixth and eighth. He had been the better of a number of times. Princeton has scored more than three runs in a game.

HUN LOSES, 5-3

To Peddie in Lacrosse, it was a trifling defeat with Peddie in the lead at the Hun School Saturday and Hun came up short every time.

The Hun freshmen lost, 5-3; the junior varsity lost, 6-5; the senior team lost, 10-6; the Old Blue and Gold of Hightstown.

The varsity led 4-1 at the half on goals by Roy Rumble, Jim Williams and Jimmy Brown. The home team came back to score four more in the second half while shutting out Hun.

HUN WINS, 2-1

Behind Kelly's One-hitter, Ken Kelly last week pitched the Hun School to an ever tighter grip on first place in the Penn-Jersey League.

Ken limited the visiting team

Perkiomen to one hit and fanned eight Saturday as Hun walked off with a 2-1 decision.

Ken, with a 10-4 record with a 4-0 league record and 5-1 in all, Coach Sandford Bing reported that to the best of his knowledge every other league team has lost more than the exception of Germantown Friends.

PEDDIE IS MONDAY FOR

On Monday, St. John's will oppose the Princeton High School lacrosse team here Monday afternoon at 3:45 at the Little Tigers' home field at Community Park.

Last week at Lawrenceville, PHS dropped its fifth straight, 11-11. After being held to a 3-3 contest and what should be an interesting intra-community match, Wednesday afternoon, PHS was scheduled to oppose Montclair here at 4.

For PHS, co-captain Huston

Weber scored a pair of goals and Mike Tomlinson and John Riedel each added a goal. Riedel was also credited with an assist. Rich Oberman was in front of the net for the losers.

Despite the string of reverses, the Lancers' spirit was still up. "We'll just wait and see what happens next, he said.

coaches reports there are five former all-American players on the team.

Phil Allen scored twice for the N. J. Club against Philadelphia. Adding to the goals were Tom McManam, John Bowes, Cap Beattie, Dave Lee, Karl Pettit and Gibbs LaMotte. Skip Flanagan had a pair of assists.

"It was a battle of goolies" remarked Waterman. Tony Arceri of N. J. has 24 saves. Phil Bennett, 23-year-old Philadelphia sophomore, a former Penn State player, had 22. "We took shot after shot on the guy," said Waterman. "He was fantastic."

TRACKMAN BOW TO THIS

At Pennington Friday, although the two teams split the first place, the Princeton 77, home team, Princeton High School picked up more seconds and thirds to defeat Princeton High School, 67-59, last week in a hard fought dual meet. The loss left the Little Tigers with a 15-1 record.

Coach Larry Ryan's cinderella story continues. The Little Valley Regional High School (Pennington) for a Friday duel met starting at 4. The annual Mercer County meet will be held Wednesday.

Paul Marzarella continues to dominate the low and high hurdles in this area. He won both again at Trenton, but was beaten in the 60 in his first meets. Twice as many as his closest pursuer. His only blemish is a second in one meet. After a second of running, Paul Ryan, of Little Valley, edged Trenton's Dave Lutz by a step. His time of 10.19.3 was one tenth of a second better than Lee's. The closeness of the race has been a trademark of the two who have waged a personal duel for two years now in both winter and spring track.

Other first place winners for Princeton's Julian Solotrovsky in the 220; Bob Upchurch, high jump; Charlie Madden, discus; and Larry Roessel, pole vault. Captain, second place, Paul Ryan, of Little Valley, 60m, Skip Ruffin, broad jump; Upchurch, pole vault; Madden, shot put; and Solotrovsky, 100. The outstanding performance of the day was that of Trenton's Al Hicks who ran the half mile in 1:59.8 - remarkable time in view of the cold weather that day. Hicks out distanced Princeton's own first half miler, Bill Sorenson, by a wide margin. "That really shocked us," commented one PHS partisan.

TOURNAMENT UNDER WAY

At Springfield Hill Club, N. J., members of Springfield golf club qualified Saturday for the President's Cup Tournament. Those with the lowest 18 hole net scores based on five rounds of stroke play, may elimination Sunday, and the quarter final and semi final rounds will be played this weekend.

TWO OF THE BEST: Looking breed after running a trial heat are John Westfeld (left) and Julian Solotrovsky, both of Princeton. Westfeld is running in the PHS track team. Solotrovsky is in the quarter mile. A former quarter-mile also, Solotrovsky now runs the 220 and 100.

The participants with their tarry treasures: Mrs. Christian qualifying scores and first [1], Ailie, Mrs. T. Hart, Anderson results: David Matheny (75) defeated Woodrow (75); John Allaire (75) defeated Dick Thompson (70), 3 and 2; Jack Sweeney (75) defeated Charlie Copping (75) defeated Asa Farr (70), 1 up; Karl Pettit (70), 7 and 6; Pete Marzoni (75) defeated Barry Foster (73), 3 and 2; Otto Nelson (75) defeated Jim Lutz (70), 1 up; Jim Lutz (70), 4 and 3; Bob Tyler (75) defeated Fred Richardson (73), 1 up.

Cornering at high speeds is one of the last things to expect small cars to do successfully. Unless it's a SAAB, that's part of the ordinary small car. Out of the ordinary because it has front-wheel drive. So it doesn't push you around like others do. It pulls you around corners, curves and other drivers' mistakes. Is that all SAAB has? Not on your life. Most ordinary cars don't give you, even as options, all the standard SAAB safety features. As an optional extra, our new V-4 engine has a LIFETIME GUARANTEE.

 Reeder maneuvered his Penguin for excellent starts in three out of the four races and overall. Reeder's final time to finish was 34.8 points. His spring series average rose accordingly from 75% to 81% of possible points. Tom Lawrence was second and Ed Metcalf took third in the day's results.

Lawson scored 17.1 points in the first three stop races, with his wife, Nancy, as crew. He continued to average 95% of possible points for the spring. Tom Foster was second and Tom Truitt third for the day.

PHS NINE MUST WIN

To qualify for Tournament, All too quickly the Princeton High School baseball team is faced with a "must win" situation in order to qualify for the annual post-season NJSIAA tournament.

The Little Tigers (3-3) must win Wednesday's scheduled contest with Cathedral and Friday's game with Lawrence. To raise their average to .500, to be eligible a team must have at least a .500 mark by the cutoff day—Friday.

If the slumping Little Tigers can pull their game together—they have lost their last five in a row—they should be able to master Lawrence. Wednesday's scheduled battle with Cathedral is a key game, however, only because it is first but in view of Cathedral's 10-5 shellacking of the Blue and White in its last start.

Over the years, Cathedral has more often than not ended up in the PHS win column. To lose twice to the Gaels—back-to-back, well, PHS coach Harry Zoll said, "We didn't beat Cathedral on Wednesday; we don't deserve to be in the tournament."

Last week, PHS was nursing a 5-4 lead when it let the game get away in the fifth inning. The Blue and White committed three of its five errors in that frame, after two were out as the Gaels scored five unearned runs.

Along the way, however, Cathedral (3-3) rapped PHS hurler Chris Haring and Thom Yoder, who pitched the last inning, for 10 hits. Haring's record is now 1-1.

Logan Has 3 Hits. One plus

Do you know what Christian Scientists really believe?

Relatively few people do.

The reason is that they are privy to the logical and understandable theology of this Christian religion. In fact, many people have become Christian Scientists when they have discovered how clearly it relates the teachings of the Bible to living in today's world.

Why not come into our Reading Room and learn this for yourself?

No need to speak to anyone... just come in and choose a chair and sit down to read. It could be the most inspiring and helpful time you've ever spent.

HE WEARS TWO HATS: Bill Harry Zoll, coach of the Princeton High School baseball team, wears his cap on the plate and in right field this season for PHS baseball coach Harry Zoll. He is a senior.

for the Little Tigers was the batting of Hal Logan. Used steadily, his speed, because of a weak bat, to bat .404, including a double, to raise his average to .364. He had entered the game with one hit. PHS scored an unearned run in the first, and another in the third on a three-base error by Cathedral and Logan's double. In the fifth, singles by Bill Logan, Tom Buttersoss and Bill Wartell, and errors around two Gael errors, accounted for three more PHS runs.

Cathedral pitcher Santo Venancio has good cause to remember the game. Not only did he pick up his second win of the season to even his record, but he batted 4-for-4 and drove in three runs.

First baseman Tom Buttersoss is the current leading hitter for the Little Tigers, stroking .458 in 11 at bats for a .458 average. Venancio is hitless in four trips against Cathedral, but still owns an impressive .385 mark, second baseman Graham a .303 mark.

The team can hit. If only the pitching would come around and the fielding tighten up... The Little Tigers need a win badly.

LITTLE LEAGUE OPEN
With Triple Header. West Windsor Little League opened its 1960 season Saturday with a triple header at Richard J. Ward Field in Princeton Junction, featuring all six teams.

In the opener, Craft Cleaners scored three runs in the last two innings on hits by Glenn McClelland, John Costas and Richard Hutton to beat Ellsworth A. C. 3-2. Larry Marz was the winning pitcher.

Edinburg Hotel, paced by pitcher Jim Wetterling and batters Mike Hutchinson and Ed Phipps, defeated the First National Bank 3-2. The Bankers scored their lone run on hits by Grey Christensen and David Duncan. In the nightcap, Thorne Pharmacy, the Bankers' opponents, beat the West Windsor Lions 3-0, behind a two-hitter hurling by Bruce Wartell. The Drugists scored on a two-run homer by Jim Hutton and hits by Terry Tucker, Rich VanDeventer and Wartell.

The season continues with games every weekday evening beginning at 6 p.m. and Saturday contests at 12 noon, on the grass field, North Post Road.

Minor League activity will begin Saturday at 9:30 am for all boys between 10 and 13 who did not join the major league teams. Manager Tony Manna reports that about 50 boys are already registered to play.

SERVICE

The GREATEST . . . BEST . . . FASTEST

. . . How many times have you seen and heard these words in ads selling service . . . we admit, we've used them ourselves. But we have found that you can't sell a service with superlatives! We simply say that we think our TV Repair Service is merely better than adequate . . . it's only GOOD.

We have trained, competent technicians with years of experience in their profession to back that statement.

And most of all, we have many satisfied customers . . . which is, after all, our ultimate goal!

Do us a service . . . call 921-8500 today so that we may serve you!
